BEK Opens Office in Valley City

BEK welcomes residents and business owners of Barnes County/Valley City to BEK Communications!

An open house and ribbon cutting were held on Thursday, July 24th at the BEK Valley City office at 415 Winter Show Road to introduce BEK staff and BEK also thanked the Valley City community for their warm welcome.

More than 275 people attended the event which featured prize giveaways, food, beverages and ice cream. More importantly, the casual gathering gave BEK's newest service area residents and business owners a chance to mingle with employees and get more information on BEK Fiber services.

BEK is bringing fiber-based services to residents in portions of Barnes County which are under-served. In addition to high speed Internet, residents can purchase television, telephone, security and surveillance services. "We have a long history of providing quality communication services to North Dakota residents," said BEK CEO Derrick Bulawa, "Whether serving a large or small community, our mission does not change – we provide our customers and clients with the best connectivity available anywhere. BEK is willing to make that investment now so that our customers won't have to in the future. Barnes County and Valley City will not be any different and we are excited to bring world-class communication services to the area."

New BEK Employees

BEK opened a new office in Valley City earlier this year in order to better serve new customers in Barnes County and Valley City. These two ladies were hired to assist with customer service in Valley City/Barnes County. They also help support customer service in all BEK service areas.

SARAH HALVERSON

Sarah was hired on May 21, 2014 as Customer Service Assistant in the Valley City BEK office. She is the official BEK greeter as you walk into the building and her ever ready smile immediately makes you feel welcomed. Sarah has seen a lot of traffic come through the door since the Barnes County BEK Fiber project was well under way when she began. Contractors, sales staff, technicians, engineers, project managers as well as customers, are just some of the people she encounters from day to day. Sarah says the job suits her personality as she labels herself as a “grab bag” – if you need her assistance; she is there. She handles the walk-ins and compiles data sheets and paperwork for business and residential accounts. She also helps with various meetings that occur at the office and was a perfect fit for BEK’s Valley City office Open House in July. She enjoys her visits with customers who have lived in the area awhile and as they share their stories with her, she informs them about BEK and what the company has to offer. Sarah was raised and educated in Valley City. She is married with three “great” kids and her favorite hobby is family. One of the loudest fans in the bleachers and on the Valley City Hi-Liners sidelines is Sarah Halverson. She loves family, church, sports and community events. Go Sarah! Welcome to the BEK Team.

NISSA CRANDALL

Nissa accepted a Customer Service Specialist position at BEK beginning June 2, 2014. She spent several weeks in the Steele office training with the customer service department before going on location in Valley City. Nissa has several years’ prior background in customer service, including Quality Specialist duties and coaching customer service reps. She loves assisting customers with their questions or concerns and explaining the BEK services they are about to get. She says what she likes the best about her job is that next call – she simply likes helping people. She enjoys the family oriented BEK atmosphere and was pleased with the reception she got when she began work with the company. She was a great asset to BEK at our Open House at the Valley City office in July; she demonstrated wonderful hospitality to our guests. Nissa was raised and educated in West Fargo and spent some time on the West Coast. She moved to Valley City to be closer to her family. Nissa enjoys reading, listening to music, attending concerts and traveling. Her secret vice is Starbuck’s. Hey Nissa – Starbuck’s website says PSLTM is back! You should treat your co-workers to a cup :). We’re happy you joined the BEK Team Nissa – Welcome!

BEK Life Country Cook-off 2014 - Episode #2

LIVE from Steele, ND

The second Country Cook-off of the 2014 season was held in Steele, N.D. on Monday, August 4th with four local businesses competing for a chance to win a $500 donation prize to the charity or organization of their choice.

This cook-off was held in conjunction with the Candisc bike tour which had a scheduled stop in Steele and was hosted by The Steele Betterment Club. The cook-off enabled the community as well as the Candisc riders to participate in the contest as the live studio audience and take part in an evening meal for a free-will donation to the Kidder County Angels who cooked and served a meal prior to the cook-off that was sponsored by BEK Communications.

For the LIVE Cook-off, delicious meals were prepared by the following business teams:

- Coffee Cup Fuel Stop represented by Troy Winger and his assistant Judy Bartels
- City of Steele, represented by Carrie Monroe and Scott Monroe
- Steele Grocery, represented by Brian Crosby and Laurie Crosby
- Cottonwood Golf Club, represented by Jackie Hager and her assistant Ethan Hager

Three Candisc riders volunteered to judge the competition and they were amazed by the scrumptious entries. Steele was the second city stop in this year's Candisc, so these guys were literally passing through town. The top two teams were just a half point difference in scores! Congratulations to Steele Grocery for winning the $500 donation prize which they donated to the Cottonwood Golf Club! The studio audience winner of the 32" HD TV was Mrs. Linda Kapp of Tappen.

Thanks to the community for a successful event. The free-will donations collected for the Kidder County Angels totaled $892. Fantastic!

Cook-off winners, Laurie and Brian Crosby, representing Steele Grocery.

Our live studio audience included Candisc participants and local residents.

Volunteer Candisc cook-off judges are interviewed by Pat Boylan of BEK Sports.

Solar Alert

Between October 4th and October 9th, BEK customers may experience brief signal pixelization, interference or complete loss of signal as the sun passes behind various satellites. The phenomenon, known as a solar outage, occurs twice each year in the fall and spring and impacts all broadcast service providers.

Thankfully, the service disruptions are temporary and picture quality is generally restored within a few minutes. Most solar outages occur around midday and last anywhere from 5 to 15 minutes. Truly, if we could control the universe in order to avoid these brief but annoying service disruptions, we happily would. That being impossible, we thank you for your patience.

BEKTV Tips & Tricks

DVR Recordings...Are You Missing the Ending?

DVR Recording Scenario

Ok, you checked your TV guide and found the programming you wanted to record. You hit record and boom, you were done. That was easy!

Later, you grabbed something to drink and sat down to enjoy your recorded programming. Let's say it was a game. It was such a good game and when the final buzzer sounded, the game was tied and heading into overtime. Cool - Exciting game; you were so pumped. The game continued and the score see-sawed and you were on the edge of your seat. Then, oh no; the recording stopped! What? NO!! You were devastated - what happened to your recording?

Here's what happened. When you set the programming to record with your DVR feature, it did indeed record what you wanted in the time designated in the guide for that program; but since the game lasted longer than the allotted time frame, the recording stopped at the end time that was set.

Don't let this happen again. Here is what you do the next time: Extend the recording longer than the allotted time on the guide so you don't miss anything.

- Schedule your recording.
- Then go into Menu.
- Select the programming you set up to record, by highlighting and choosing OK.
- A menu will appear; select edit recording.
- Another menu will appear; highlight the End option and then change the time for it to record longer. The default is "0 Minutes Late" - you can change it to whatever you want. If you change it to "30 Minutes Late" - your DVR will continue to record 30 minutes longer than the timeframe given in the guide for that program. You will not miss the ending of your program and you will save yourself any disappointments.

Common Cents - Local Communities Receive Grants

At the July Board Meeting, the BEK Board of Directors donated funds by awarding eight Common Cents grants to local communities to help economic development and community outreach.

Baby Boomers have become or are becoming active seniors. It's no surprise that this group of the population does not like to sit idle. It's not in their makeup. They are accustomed to taking part and being active – they love life and they like spending time together.

This is evident in BEK Country where several communities have centers for people to gather to share a meal, play some cards, visit and make a difference in each other's lives as well as those outside of this arena. Three of these centers were awarded BEK Common Cents Grants: The Wishek Senior Center to use towards updating their heating system, the Tuttle Senior Citizens Center whose project is to replace windows and the Active Seniors of Steele who are fixing deteriorating cement blocks on the outside of their building.

Can you imagine where we'd be without our local fire departments? There are several hundred volunteers in the BEK service area who are quick to put their work on hold to respond when we need them. In order to be effective, they need to be properly equipped. The Hague Fire Department received a Common Cents grant from BEK to help fund a couple of those needs - wild land and turnout gear for their firefighters.

Carl Knutson accepts grant check on behalf of the Tuttle Senior Citizens Center from BEK Director, Doug Kalianoff.

Duane Hulm accepts grant check on behalf of the Hague Fire Department from BEK Director, Leo Meier.

Other Common Cents Grant recipients:

- Napoleon Care Center - to use towards the purchase of a defibrillator for their assisted living facility.
- Strasburg Care Center - to use towards the remodeling of bathing facilities for their residents.
- City of Hague Park District - to use towards city park improvements.
- Wing Theatre - to use towards upgrading their equipment from analog to digital.
- City of Zeeland - to use towards maintenance of their community post office.

It is BEK's mission and long term goals to not only provide advanced, quality communications services, but to enhance the quality of life in the communities it serves.

The Common Cents Grant program was designed to support BEK's ongoing commitment to area communities. Since the program began in July 2004, BEK has awarded more than $83,500 to communities applying for grants for Community Outreach or Economic Development.

Community Outreach includes support for those services, activities and events that contribute to the economic viability, health or safety, or general well-being of those residing in the community.

Economic Development includes support for communities in their efforts to create new jobs, retain businesses and to provide incentives for prospective or newly developing industries.

BEK Communications welcomes tax-exempt, nonprofit community organizations or groups in BEK's serving area to apply for its biannual Common Cents Grant program. Applications may be obtained by contacting BEK at 1-888-475-2361 and are due by January 15th or July 15th of each year for consideration. Applications can also be downloaded at www.bektel.com/grants

BEK, I do not want a phone line!

As a company, as employees, as individuals, BEK has heard, "I do NOT want a phone line!" and many of us empathize with that statement. So let's just address this straight on.

- As a Cooperative, BEK operates within a regulatory framework. Currently that framework includes the Universal Service Fund (USF). From the USF, the Cooperative receives over $8 million per year. The kicker here is that USF regulations require BEK to include a phone line and pay a tariff in order to offer advanced services like high speed Internet, security, surveillance and television. If the company were to choose NOT to require a phone line, it would no longer be eligible to receive the $8 million. Did we mention that's PER YEAR?
- Now, about that tariff (stick with us here). In the Cooperative, BEK pays a tariff fee to provide rural communities with advanced services. For advanced data services, the tariff fee is paid for bandwidth used on the network. The greater the bandwidth, the higher the fee. This is why the price for increased bandwidth is higher in the Cooperative. Obviously, it would be much simpler to make pricing universal in all service areas but BEK cannot afford to offer the same bandwidth at the same price in the Cooperative because the Cooperative must then pay the associated tariff fee. It has taken BEK years to determine what bandwidth/fee ratio the Cooperative can afford. As part of this equation, the Cooperative relies on a significant discount that comes from combining voice/data subscriber fees. If BEK were to remove voice from the combined tariff, the fees for data alone in the Cooperative would double and, in some cases, triple or quadruple for each subscriber (owner-member).

Were that to happen, BEK would not be able to sustain paying the tariff fees and the options become:

- fold or be gobbled up by another provider;
- pass the increased data costs to member-owners through unrealistic Internet fees (think hundreds of dollars per month); or
- discontinue all advanced services, including high speed Internet.

In the end, BEK pays and receives money to provide services in the Cooperative. Presently, that exchange of monies is wrapped up in phone/data regulations that work in the Cooperative's favor. As a result, BEK is able to offer member-owners quality services delivered on an infrastructure that many rural Cooperatives did not have the foresight to build or the knowledge to manage the outrageous fees required to deliver it at a competitive price. It's also an infrastructure that more than 80% of the country cannot access and a business model that is incredibly unique. Of course, regulations do change and we suspect that when the phone line requirements cease to be an issue for the Cooperative, they will cease to be a requirement for member-owners as well.

Federal Universal Service Charge Increase

In a recent order, the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) changed the Federal Universal Service Charge (FUSC) factor from 15.7% to 16.1% effective October 1, 2014.

The purpose of this charge is to help keep rates affordable for all customers, regardless of where they live in the U.S. as well as to assist schools, libraries and rural healthcare providers obtain leading edge telecommunications services. This current rate of 16.1% of specific regulatory and tariff fees is set by the FCC and is subject to change upon their determination.

Not All Fiber is Equal

Use Google Search on Google Chrome to search for Google Fiber and you'll find millions of websites to explore. Somehow, that isn't surprising despite the limited deployment of both. What is surprising is how fast fiber has become synonymous with broadband services. More and more companies advertise their new or improved or existing broadband as fiber services. But did you know that not all fiber networks are created equal?

That's right. The telecommunications industry outlines several distinct types of fiber networks. For example, Fiber to the Home (FTTH) delivers services via fiber optic cable (pure fiber) from the provider's home signal to the customer home or business. On the other hand, Fiber to the Neighborhood (FTTN) and other hybrid fiber networks include a portion of pure fiber but that portion may actually end miles away from the customer home and is then blended with the outdated existing network technology (think cable/copper). In these types of hybrid fiber configurations, the signal is often split many times and shared between customers after leaving the pure fiber network. As a result, the hybrid fiber networks are susceptible to weather and environmental issues, are far less secure, and offer limited bandwidth - basically rendering the benefits of including any type of fiber pointless!

So why should this matter to you? Well, because in today's market, if any part of a network contains fiber (including all of the hybrid fiber configurations out there), companies may promote and sell their services as being delivered via fiber.

So as more companies blend their outdated, existing networks with fiber technology, the complications of what that means to the consumer and what they should pay for it will continue to become ever-more murky. At present, less than 20% of US residents have access to any type of fiber network so if you are in the enviable situation of having a choice between fiber providers, take time to compare what counts - it's actually a privilege!

October is Co-op Month!

Help us celebrate "The Co-op Connection" to the world around us.

To recognize this special month, BEK Communications Cooperative is inviting you to participate in a little survey (below) for a chance to win one of three great prizes!

Cooperatives range in size from small storefronts to large Fortune 500 companies like REI and Nationwide Insurance. Co-ops mean business. They provide a viable alternative to the traditional business model for more than 130 million members across the U.S.

Co-ops also mean connections. They strengthen ties with members through education and networking opportunities. They connect with other cooperatives by practicing Cooperative Principle #6, or "cooperation among cooperatives." Co-ops connect with policy makers through advocacy, and with young people through engagement. Through sustainable development, co-ops connect with their communities, meeting needs that might otherwise go unmet.

BEK Communications Cooperative was founded in 1952. It is a multi-faceted communications service company headquartered in Steele, North Dakota. The company provides facility based voice, Internet, Ethernet and digital television services, voice and surveillance cloud-based services, live sports broadcasting, and hospital and business communications solutions to more than 7,000 customers in south-central North Dakota.

Since 1930, co-ops across the United States have organized every October to celebrate the cooperative movement's history and economic impact on communities nationwide. The annual event continues to provide a key opportunity to reflect on the legacy of cooperative impact.

Join us in the celebration of our cooperative and give us the opportunity to offer you a chance to win some great prizes by completing the registration below.
